AFTER RUNAWAY WIFE.

Natalie Daldass, an Austrian miner, of near Meyersdale, Pa., was in Cumberland yesterday, looking for his pretty young wife, Genevieve, who eloped on Monday night with Dominick and Brazio Valentino, Italians, taking with her Servia, their 5-year-old child, and $750 in money.

Daldass, a stalwart young man, enlisted the police in the search for his wife, child and money. He says that he worked at night and, found his trunk broken open and his wife, child and savings of years gone. Inquiry among neighbors developed the fact that the Valentino brothers had gotten Mrs. Daldass and the money. Monday night had hired a team to drive to the Meyersdale depot, but missed the train while wrangling over pay for the conveyance.

Fred Daldass, a brother of the woman's husband, gave chase, shooting twice at the runaways. Being afraid to get into too close quarters with the Italians, Fred Daldass went after the authorities. The Valentinos and Mrs. Daldass fled to the mountains and were traced to Philson, Pa., in which vicinity, it is thought, they may try to take a train for Cumberland or farther east. An effort is being made to capture the trio in the mountains.

BRINGS UP DEAD MAN.

While at work under twenty feet of water at the bottom of one of the caissons on which the superstructure of the new piers, Nos. 4, 5, and 6, will rest, William Small, a diver, of Baltimore, was stricken with heart disease yesterday morning, and died before his companions could get him out of the big tube. In driving the big caissons, which are nothing more than rectangular steel tubes about 24 feet long and of sufficient width and breath to allow a man to work comfortably on the inside, it sometimes happens that obstructions such as stones or other hard substances impede the downward progress of the tubes, and it is the duty of the divers to remove these obstructions, working on the inside of the caisson.

Yesterday morning Small was sent down to remove obstructions from beneath a caisson at the foot of Albemarle street. He was dressed in a diver's uniform, and after he had descended into the water several men on shore manned a pump to supply air to him.

About 30 minutes is the usual time for a diver to stay under water without coming to the surface for a breathing spell, and when this time had elapsed and no signal had come from Small those at the air pump became alarmed and pulled the diver to the surface. The moment the diver's helmet showed his companions hastily stripped him of his cumbersome uniform. His fellow-workmen summonad an ambulance and had Small sent to City Hospital, where the physicians declared the man was dead.

It was first thought that death might have resulted from suffocation, due to some defect in the pipes supplying air to him beneath the water, but after examining the body Coroner Sudler expressed the opinion that the man had died of heart disease.

Kodol will, in a very short time, enable the stomach to do the work it should do, and the work it should do is to digest all the food you eat. It makes the stomach sweet and it is pleasant to take. It is sold here by W. F. Creighton & Co.

THE COUNCIL OF WOMEN.

The sessions of the International Council of Women were resumed at Geneva, yesterday morning, the principal proceedings having to do with the admission of the National Councils of Bulgaria and Greece. Various delegates read reports on the progress of the movement in their respective countries, one of the most interesting being that read by Mrs. Kate Waller Barrett, the vice-president of the American Council, which gave a description of the work in the United States. Mrs. Barrett stated that the American Councils had succeeded in securing improved conditions for women prisoners and protection for women immigrants. The address of the Russian delegate, Mme. Philosophoff, also was listened to with close attention. She related the vain struggle of Russian women to obtain the permission of Premier Stolypin to combine.

EATS GLASS ON A WAGER.

To win a bet, Peter Steckler, 19 years old, of 3623 Carpenter avenue, New York, on last Wednesday night swallowed a piece of glass. Yesterday he was removed from his home to Fordham Hospital, suffering intense pain in his abdomen.

When he reached the hospital he told Dr Platzek that when he ate the glass he was drinking in a saloon, when a bet was made by one of his companions that he did not dare take a bite of the glass from which he was drinking beer. He won the bet, but will have to undergo an operation to have the glass removed.

BALLOON CROSSES THE BAY.

A very successful balloon flight was made yesterday by three of the officers of the signal corps in the new signal corps balloon No. 12, recently purchased from Capt. Baldwin. The start was mede from Fort Myer, at 8:31 and a landing was effected at a point 2½ miles south of Pocomoke, Md., within a dozen miles of the Atlantic Ocean, at 1:02 p. m.

Lieut Lahm, the winner of the 1906 James Gordon Bennett international balloon race, acted as pilot, and accompanying him were Lieuts. Foulois and Selfridge, of the aeronautical division of the signal corps. Lieut. Lahm has been entered as one of the three representatives of this country in the international balloon race to take place at Berlin on October 11, but it is now understood that he will be unable to participate, owing to the Fort Myer aeroplane tests.

The officers had planned to make an all-night trip, but, at a late hour Tuesday, after ascending, they found the atmospheric conditions unfavorable for a flight and they remained at Fort Myer through the night, prepared to make an early start yesterday. The balloon took a northeasterly course when released, but later struck a current which carried it rapidly to the east. A distance of over 100 miles was covered.

The inhabitants of Pocomoke were surprised yesterday when they saw a huge balloon sailing over the southern part of the town. The craft was of the United States Signal Corps Service, which left Fort Myer, Va., yesterday. They landed about two miles south of the town on the farm of Francis M. Wilson, at 1:02 p. m., where they engaged the services of Mr. Francis T. White to bring them, with their balloon, to the station, where they took the Norfolk Express for Old Point, where they met the night boat for Washington. The balloonists report a very successful trip, without a mishap, the average speed for the time being 25 miles per hour, in a general east-southeast direction.

CLOTHING AND HABERDASHERY.

ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER

SIC SEMPER TYRANNIS

THURSDAY EVENING, SEPT. 3, 1908.

ADDRESSING a democratic rally at Sioux City, Iowa, last night, Mr. W. J. Bryan denounced T. Coleman Du Pont, of Delaware, and Senator Boies Penrose, of Pennsylvania, members of the republican executive committee, as not being expected to be reformers because, as he charged, all of their affiliation was with the trusts. Discussing the question of reform, Mr. Bryan declared that the republican party was not in a position to reform anything because its conspicuous members are connected with the very things that need reform, and the republican party cannot prosecute the guilty without disgracing its most prominent members. As an illustration he cited the fact that the republican national committee had selected a chairman, and that that chairman had selected his executive committee. "If," he said, "you will read the names of the members of the executive committee who are now carrying on this campaign you will find that a majority of them are conspicuous for their connection with the very corporations that need regulation." Mr. Bryan's statement is true and his argument unanswerable.

DURING the last year cotton manufactures to the value of $25,000,000 were exported from the United States to nearly all quarters of the globe in competition with the cotton manufactures of Europe and Asia. Upon these American goods were paid much the highest wages going in the world. Yet the pretense is still made that the manufacturers of cotton goods must be protected by an average duty of 50 per cent. against foreign competition in the home market. While American cotton goods are pouring out in increasing volume, the standpatters say that if the tariff barriers were lowered the foreign cotton products would pour in. That, says the Philadelphia Record, is to say, American consumers are so wanting in common sense and discrimination that they would prefer the foreign cotton fabrics to the better and cheaper products of home manufacture.

UNDER republican rule there can be no reform of the tariff save in the interest of producers, while the democrats demand a revision in favor of the masses of American consumers. All the promises of tariff reform that are now wrung from the fears of the republican leaders are therefore worthless. The elements that control the republican party will never permit it to arrest the legalized means of despoiling the masses of the people. Mr. Taft is manifestly in the thrall of these elements and so is his associate, Mr. Sherman. The democratic party alone deserves confidence in this momentous issue because it alone is free from the sinister influences to which the republican party has long succumbed.

A PRELIMINARY analysis of the report of the recent conference of officers at the Naval War College at Newport shows that in future the armor belt of the larger ships will be extended below the water line, but that the belt will not be raised above the present position. Those in process of construction will be armored, as hereofore prescribed. The conference has decided to abandon the military masts and to adopt the ninety-foot fire control towers of steel, recently tested at Hampton Roads. The principal guns of the second battery will be five inch instead of six.

NOTWITHSTANDING President Roosevelt's pronunciamento that Governor Hughes' renomination is "absolutely necessary," and though the latter's nomination seems certain, the New York republican leaders are not disposed to abandon their opposition without a struggle.

THE democrats of Vermont at the election on Tuesday, elected two state senators. This is the first time their party has been represented in the upper house of the Vermont legislature for some years past. This certainly shows no democratic loss.

From Washington.

Disclosures made here today, coupled with the recent demand of Alfred O. Grozier, of Wilmington, Del., that President Roosevelt immediately order the removal of General T. Coleman Du Pont, as head of the speakers bureau, and as a member of the executive committee of the republican national committee, give promise of making the so-called "powder trust" the storm center of the presidential campaign. According to advices here, there has already been a knocking together of heads over Du Pont's selection. It is said that the president is indignant, that Taft privately disclaims responsibility, and that party leaders in manufacturing sections fear the trust magnate's retention will cost the party many labor votes, but Chairman Hitchcock, who accepts all blame, points out that as the Du Ponts politically won Delaware he thought it good strategy to corral the electoral vote of the state when it could be done by simply humoring the ambition of one man. The Department of Justice is swearing in its beard, however. The attorney general is reported as having protested to the president that the placing of Du Pont in such a conspicuous position and giving him control of the campaign oratory, will not only add credence to the democrats, charge that there is to be no further following of the Roosevelt anti-trust policy, but that the selection may greatly embarrass the government in its prosecution of the powder trust. The president has been informed that the government, up to this time, has been unable to get a master appointed to take testimony in the powder suit, although action was begun almost a year ago, and notwithstanding the fact that the attorney general has been urging the court to start the wheels. The court in this case is United States Judge Gray whom the eastern conservative democrats tried to pit against Bryan. According to the government law officers, Gray "sees no occasion for undue haste." Other federal judges in that circuit prefer to keep hands off, because of "judical courtesy." The government's only other recourse, if it declines to be put off, is through the supreme court, which is now in vacation. Some folks are looking for DuPont's speedy retirement, or a broadside from the president.

The comptroller of the currency today announced the closing of the First National Bank of Niles, O., by order of the Board of Directors and the appointment of P. Tillinghast as receiver. The resources and liabilities of the bank at the date of the last statement of condition to the comptroller, were $1,385,625 each.

Former Minister to Venezuela, W. W. Russell, is preparing to leave America the latter part of this month for Quito, Ecuador, to plant his country's exhibit at the exposition there next year. Fifty thousand dollars was appropriated by Congress last session for participation in the exposition. Mr. Russell, who is empowered as commissioner, will supervise the erection of a United States building.

Politicians interested in the Ohio situation are holding a little guessing contest here today over the glad-hand-fest, at Toledo, yesterday, in which Taft and Foraker were the star participants. In the first place, they are wondering whether the senator had his fingers crossed when he said all those lovely things about the presidential candidate. Next, they are mighty curious to know what Taft thought of the remarks of Senator Dick, who butted into the proceedings with an appeal for the re-election of his colleague. According to reports from the scene Taft sat tight, and looked uncomfortable when the senatorial situation was injected into the political love feast. Taft has repeatedly rejected overtures from the Foraker following to lend his support to the senator's candidacy for re-election. He has constantly maintained the position that this matter is not now before the people and that the only thing that concerns him, and the only thing in which the voters of Ohio should be interested at this time, is the presidential campaign. That the senatorial end of the episode was a "frame-up," of which Taft had been kept in ignorance when he consented to join Foraker in a public interment of the hatchet, is the general opinion in these parts.

Attempted Suicide in Paris.

Paris, Sept. 3.—In a fit of despondency, said to be due to marital troubles, Mrs. Myriam P. Colfelt, wife of T. H. Colfelt, a wealthy New York man, attempted suicide at her hotel in Avenue Kleber Wednesday night.

Mrs. Colfelt arrived at the Hotel Colombia July 6, the day after her husband left the hotel with their six-year-old son. Mr. Corfelt returned to Paris later, but did not join his wife at the Colombia, though the two met on several occasions. To her maid she confided that her married life was unhappy and that she was trying to regain possession of the boy.

At midnight Mrs. Colfelt arose and without waking her maid she got her revolver and startled the hotel by firing three shots in rapid succession. One of the bullets passed entirely through her chest. The other bullets have been located and the doctors will probe for them. They say she has a bare chance of recovery.

Mr. Colfelt is on an automobile tour. He is being sought for today and if found will be brought back to Paris in an effort to throw some light on the attempted suicide.

The Big Trees Burned.

San Francisco, Sept. 3—"The mother of the forest" has been destroyed. The famous tree in the Calaveras Grove of big trees threatened by the fires of the past few days has been burned. The "mother" stood 327 feet high and had been dead for 200 years. Sparks from the forest fire fell in the dead branches and the blazing tree formed a menace to the grove. Desperate efforts on the part of the fire fighters saved the rest of the grove. The "mother" was the subject of a number of poems and romances.

New York Stock Market.

New York, Sept 3.—The apparently acute situation created by Germany's attitude in the Morocco episode was the leading factor in the stock market during the first hour. Following the recovery in smelting the continent sold stocks here on a large scale. The supply was easily absorbed. A generally firm tone was developed in the market after the first hour and a show of decided strength was made in a number of issues.

THE REAL TEST

Of Herpicide Is In Giving It a Thorough Trial.

There is only one test by which to judge of the efficiency of any article and that is by its ability to do that which it is intended to do. Many hair vigors may look nice and smell nice, but the point is—do they eradicate Dandruff and stop falling hair?

No, they do not, but Herpicide does, because it goes to the root of the evil and kills the germ that attacks the papilla from whence the hair gets its life.

Letters from prominent people everywhere are daily proving that Newbro's Herpicide stands the "test of use."

It is a delightful dressing, clear, pure and free from oil or grease.

Sold by Ernest L. Allen & Co., agents. Two sizes 50c and $1.00. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. 88

The charge that the Wisconsin senatorial campaign cost the various candidates from $400,000 to $850,000, and that Senator Isaac Stephenson spent the bulk of the money may result in a decision by Senator La Follette to organize a war in the legislature against his colleague in an effort to prevent Stephenson's election.

A riot yesterday in which two women were fatally shot, followed an attack upon a party of workmen, who were taking the places of 500 men and boys at the mountain shaft of the Pennsylvania Coal Company, at Dunmore, near Scranton, Pa. In an effort to prevent a pitched battle between the angry mob of disgruntled miners and the men who had taken their places, a troop of state constabulary hurried from their barracks to the scene of the trouble. They were unable to restore order by a show of arms, and it was necessary to fire several volleys into the attacking party before the crowd could be dispersed.

JONES AIRSHIP EXPLODES.

In view of 25,000 horrified spectators assembled on the Central Maine Fair Grounds at Waterville, Me, late yesterday, Charles Oliver Jones, the aeronaut of Hammondport, N. Y., fell a distance of 500 feet to his death. Among the witnesses of the frightful plunge were Mrs. Jones and child, and they were almost the first to reach the side of the dying man. The aeronaut died an hour and a half after the accident.

Yesterday Jones arranged to make a flight between 3 and 4 o'clock, but such a high wind prevailed that a delay was necessary. At 4:30 conditions had modified and he gave the word to have the machine released.

When the aeronaut reached a height of more than 500 feet the spectators were amazed to see small tongues of flame issuing from under the gas bag in front of the motor. At this time the balloon had passed out of the fair grounds. Many persons in the great crowd endeavored to apprise Jones of his danger, but several minutes elapsed before he noticed the fire. Then he grasped the rip cord, and, by letting out gas endeavored to reach the earth. The machine had decended but a short distance when a sudden burst of flame enveloped the gas bag, the frame work immediately separating from the bag. Jones fell with the frame of his motor, and when the spectators reached him he was lying under it. The gas bag was completely destroyed.

MR. FISHER GETS DIVORCE.

Mr. William H. Fisher was granted an absolute divorce yesterday from his wife, Edith Ridgely Fisher, in Circuit Court No. 2, Baltimore, on the ground of improper relations with William B. Rayner, son of United States Senator Rayner, and with whom Mrs. Fisher eloped several months ago. No defense was entered. The order granting the divorce was signed by Judge Gorter late in the afternoon, and the court gives Mr. Fisher the custody of the two minor children, Randolph Ridgely Fisher and John R. Fisher.

By granting Mr. Fisher an absolute divorce on the ground of adultery, it is now possible for Mrs. Fisher and young Rayner to be married, if Mrs. William B. Rayner gets a divorce, and thus carry out the prediction of Mrs. Fisher soon after she and Rayner were brought back to Baltimore by the Senator and several attending physicians and custodians. No suit has been filed by Mrs. Rayner, however, and she has allowed the impression to prevail that she does not intend to get a divorce, holding, it is understood, that William B. Rayner was not accountable for his acts when he ran away with Mrs. Fisher because of his mental condition.

LETTER TO J CLINTON MILBURN

Alexandria, Va.

Dear Sir: Perhaps you can get your house well painted for half. If we're wrong in a certain matter, you can.

We'll furnish the paint for half the job; you get what you like for the other half.

If Devoe half doesn't take less gallons, we'll give you the paint.

If Devoe half doesn't take less labor, we'll pay for the labor.

If Devoe half doesn't wear a year longer, we'll give you the job, both paint and labor.

Get a good painter to do both halves of the job; divide it in halves in a way to be fair to both paints. We want no advantage; we want a fair deal.

A gallon saved is the cost of that gallon, $1.75, and the cost of the labor of painting that gallon, from $2 to $4. We reckon $5 for both.

If one paint wears three and the other four years, the saving by wear is one-third of the cost of the job; five years, two-thirds; six years, the whole job. We'd like to know which is which, and are willing to try.

Yours truly,

F W DEVOE & CO.

Mrs. Field Married.

London, Sept. 3.—Mrs. Marshall Field, jr., widow of the late Marshall Field, jr., of Chicago, was married at the registry office at 10:30 this morning to Baldwin A. Drummond, second son of the late Edgar A. Drummond, of Oadland.

Efforts were made to keep the wedding plans secret.

Mrs. Marshall Field jr's. two sons and Craig Wadsworth, one of the secretaries of the American Embassy and the Duke of Westminster were the only witnesses aside from those required by law.

Drummond is prominent in English society and is connected with several of the titled families, and has known Mrs. Field for nine years and was also acquainted with her husband.

Immediately following the ceremony the couple left on an automobile trip, intending to tour the continent.

Mrs. Drummond has spent much of her time in England since the death of her husband in Chicago, November 27, 1905. At one time she was reported engaged to a member of the British royalty.

The marriage, it is said, will prove a keen disappointment to King Edward, who for the last two years had been trying to arrange a marriage between Mrs. Field and Prince Francis Teck, an impecunious relative. Mrs. Field's rich dowry caught the king's fancy, it is said, and he was anxious for an alliance between her and some member of the royalty, preferably Prince Francis.

Chicago, Sept. 3.—Mrs. Marshall Field, jr., is the widow of the son of Chicago's merchant king. Her husband, Marshall Field, jr., shot himself while cleaning a pistol in his home here three years ago. He was rushed to a hospital and died without recovering consciousness.

Immediately after the funeral, his widow went to England, taking with her her two sons, aged 15 and 13 years.

Mrs. Field is the daughter of Henry Buck, a millionaire brewer of this city. She was married to Field 16 years ago. Her two sons are the principal heirs of the Field estate, valued at about $150,000,000.

The Pope Apprehensive.

Rome, Sept. 3.—Pope Pius X today in an interview with Bishop Burke, of Albany, N. Y., expressed the fear that he has but a short time to live. He declared the confinement of the vatican and the burdens of the Catholic church coupled with an unconquerable desire to return to his old home in Venice, were more than he could bear and that he feared he would soon succumb under their weight. The pope announced that he was trying to get his own affairs and those of the church in such shape that his expected death would not seriously interrupt the progress of the church. The pope again took occasion to extol the work of the Catholic church in America, declaring as he has done to so many American interviewers, that the freedom and independence enjoyed by the church in America were a pleasing sign of progress. "If the pontificate and liberty were not so directly opposed to each other, I would like to live in America," the pope said to Bishop Burke.

It developed today that before departing for London, where on next Tuesday he opens the Eucharistic Congress, Cardinal Vannutelli, the papal legate, and Pope Pius had a bitter disagreement over the subject matter of the legate's opening speech.

The pope urged that the speech contain no reference to the state of the church, but that it be purely a religious appeal. Vannutelli argued that it would be a most auspicious time to set forth the status of the church and to make an appeal to England to return to the Catholic faith. Neither was willing to yield for some time, though a compromise was finally reached, in which Vannutelli carried most of his points, including the appeal to England. As guests of a Protestant government the pope feared that such an appeal as Vannutelli favored might be considered in bad taste.

Another Mysterious Death.

Omaha, Neb., Sept 3.—The murder on the threshold of his home of Dr. Fred Rustin, former baseball star and one of the most prominent surgeons in the west, for its baffling features promises to rival the boardwalk shooting at Atlantic City.

That the police believe a woman figures in the case was evidenced today when Chief of Police Donohue summoned a Miss Leona Burnley to his office and "sweated" her for three hours. She declared she knew absolutely nothing about the killing or anything which has led up to it. The police are holding her for further inquiry.

The physician was found fatally shot either on his front porch or inside the front door of his home early yesterday morning.

Chief Donahue announced today that after 24 hours investigation he had been unable to clear up the mystery. Rustin left his home early Tuesday evening, on a professional call, he said, and met Miss Burnley late in the evening. As late as 10 o'clock, the doctor talked to friends in a down town drug store and he was seen again shortly before midnight in the "Hub" Saloon. It was after this that Miss Burnley says that she and a man companion accompanied him to the vicinity of his home. After that the trail is lost. The police are believed to have discarded the suicide theory.

Fight in the Air.

Chicago, Sept. 3.—At the top of a narrow four story wall, Jos. Bauses, aged 30 and Magnus Keilburg, 49, hod carriers, fought with knives today and as a result, Keilburg is fatally stabbed and the police are searching for Bauses. Keilburg's body, terribly cut, was found by the police hanging over the edge of wall. The men, while carrying their hods, met on the wall and quarreled over the right of way. Both drew knives and slashed each other for ten minutes before Keilburg fell mortally wounded. Bauses climed down a ladder to the ground and escaped before his fellow workmen could lay hands on him.

The meeting of Judge Taft and Senator Foraker in which so much evident good feeling was shown, is causing no end of discussion in republican circles in Toledo, O., today. That one of the contending forces has hung out the white flag, is the general opinion. The meeting yesterday was to all appearances accidental but it is known that great pains had been taken to bring it about.

Fire swept over the town of Shiremanstown, Pa., county, yesterday as the result of a spark from a passing Cumberland Valley passenger engine landing on the roof of the deserted Eberly warehouse, lying along the railroad tracks. A stiff breeze fanned the flame, and in 20 minutes it had jumped diagonally across the town, setting fire to 23 buildings, including old St. John's Lutheran Church.

A London newspaper, "John Bull," prints a denial today of the rumor that a quarrel has taken place between King Alfonso of Spain and his wife, Queen Victoria, who is now visiting her mother on the Isle of Wight. A Traveling Man's Experience.

"I must tell you my experience on an east bound O. R. & N. R. R. train from Pendleton to Le Grande, Ore., writes Sam A. Garber, a well known traveling man. 'I was in the smoking department with some other traveling men when one of them went out into the coach and came back and said, 'There is a woman sick unto death in the car.' I at once got up and went out, found her very ill with cramp colic; her hands and arms were drawn up so you could not straighten them, and with a death-like look on her face. Two or three ladies were working with her and giving her whisky. I went to my suit case and got my bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarroea Remedy (I never travel without it), ran to the water tank, put a double dose of the medicine in the glass, poured some water into it and stirred it with a pencil; then I had quite a time to get the ladies to let me give it to her, but I succeeded. I could at once see the effect and I worked with her, rubbing her hands, and in twenty minutes I gave her another dose. By this time we were almost into Le Grande, where I was to leave the train. I gave the bottle to the husband to be used in case another dose should be needed, but by the time the train ran into Le Grande she was all right, and I received the thanks of every passenger in the car." WEDDING IN RICHMOND.

The wedding of Miss Grayson Jones, daughter of the late Philip B. Jones and Mrs. Betty Morris Jones, to Mr. Llewellyn Griffith Hoxton, of the University of Virginia, and son of the late Colonel and Mrs. Llewellyn Griffith Hoxton, of Episcopal High School, Alexandria, was celebrated at 6:30 p. m. yesterday in the home of the bride's sister Mrs. Egbert G. Leigh, jr., of No. 504 west Franklin street, the Rev. Landon R. Mason, of No. 504 west Franklin street, officiating.

Around her neck was an opal and pearl necklace, the bridegroom's gift. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Graham, of New York, who, as matron of honor, was attired in white and had an arm bouquet of pink roses.

CHICKEN THIEVES AT WORK.

Jesse Stansbury, who lives in Maryland, near Shepherd's wharf a night or two lost a dozen fine chickens. He traced the thieves to this city where he located his property in the rooms occupied by Robert Johnson and Thomas McQuen. Ten of the chickens were lying headless in a bag and the other two were being fried this morning for breakfast by these two men. McQuen denies his guilt, but Johnson says that the former rowed him across the river in a boat and brought him back with the plunder. Though he claims to be an innocent man to the transaction the fact that chickens were found in a chimney in his room and two being fried speaks loud circumstantially against him. As the theft occurred in the District of Columbia the men were turned over to those authorities this morning.

EXCURSION OF DRAMATIC CLUB

Nature could not have shown herself in dazzling splendor to a greater extent than today. The sun came from behind the eastern hills this morning and smiled with pleasure on the social and benevolent organization known as the Elks' Dramatic Club on the occasion of their complimentary exursion to Marshall Hall. The committee worked with a zeal characteristic of the fountain head from which this body sprang and the day all the way through has been one of surprises in the abundance of amusements furnished. The races took place as predicted and were witnessed by thousands of people on land and water. On the arrival of the last boat tonight four of the best cake walking couples in this city will perform a stunt on the pavilion. The water melon wash will take place tonight.

A HEALTHY CITY.

Two-thirds, or eight months, of the calendar year has passed and if the death rate is accepted as a fair index by which to judge the health of a community, Alexandria is indeed a healthy city. It is claimed by those who profess to be well informed, and at the same time conservative in statement, that there has beenno decrease, but an appreciable increase in our population in late of years. If such claims are susceptible proof, then Alexandria's death rate being low, the general health of our city is good. During the eight months ending August 31, 1904, the deaths occurring in the city were 241; in 1907 they numbered 240, and for the eight months ending August 31, 1908, they number 202.

STRICKEN WITH PARALYSIS.

Residents of Fairfax county who were in market here today report that Mr. Nick Johnson, who has been conducting a wheelright business in Happy Valley for forty years, was stricken with paralysis Tuesday morning. "Nick," as everyone knows him, has the sympathy of many people who have had business dealings with him. All who knows him hope for his speedy recovery.

DANGER TO LIFE AND LIMB.

Now that the bird season is on in earnest everybody who is fond of gunning and can obtain a gun is out in the marshes trying to kill the rail and black birds. They shoot promiscuously, not seeming to care where the shots fall. One or two runaway accidents have been narrowly averted by stray shot striking the horses attached to vehicles crossing Hunting Creek bridge. A little care should be exercised by those fond of the sport.

CHILD INJURED.

The little son of Capt. Frank Dixon was painfully hurt by a gate falling from its hinges late yesterday evening and striking the little fellow on the head. His forehead was cut open and he was otherwise bruised. The injury was dressed by Dr. S. B. Moore, who is not certain that the skull was not fractured. A later report says the child's injuries are not as serious as at first reported. The child is 18 months old.

COLUMBIA FIRE COMPANY.

The regular monthly meeting of the Columbia Fire Company was held last night, Vice President W. K. Griffith, in the chair. Two new members were elected, and three applications received. The resignation of W. L. Hoy, as secretary, was accepted with regrets. Several amendments to the by-laws were offered which will be voted on at next meeting. After the meeting, the members attended the Eagles carnival headed by the Reliance Drum Corps.

SHOOTING IN GRAVEYARD.

Even the dead cannot lie peacefully in their graves in the cemeteries of this city for the pot hunters who, with an old flint musket, will shoot at anything from a turkey buzzard to a crow. Their idea seems just to kill something. Now these violators of the law have changed their base of operations from Pompergill's marsh to the graveyard and are killing young rabbits, while the law allowing the gunning of these will not become operative till November first.

HIBERNIANS MEET.

The regular meeting of the Ancient Order of Hibernians was held last night in St. Mary's Hall and was largely attended, mainly on account of the anticipated report of the delegates to the convention which met in Portsmouth a few days ago. The delegates made a flattering report of the condition of the order and spoke of improvements in present conditions which would eventually redound to the order's interest.

A good subject for the reform school as he is only about ten years old.

INTERESTING SUIT.

The suit of the United States of America vs. Theodore Johnson, in the Circuit Court of the United States for the Eastern District of Virginia, will be heard at the next term in this city. The government is claiming ownership over twenty feet of ground on the eastern side of the military road leading from Roslyn to Fort Myer, where it passes through the Drain property, and in this claim is a considerable part of the lot owned by Theodore Johnson. Mr. James E. Clements is attorney for the defendant, and today filed his answer to the bill, and in it he alleges that the government has no title to anything under the deed from Charlotte L Drain and husband of date September 30th, 1902, except the eastern half of the military road being a strip twenty feet wide measuring from the center of said roadbed.

Counsel further contends that the act of Congress approved June 28th, 1902, appropriates $4,500, "to purchase the land forming the roadway of the military road where said land has not been dedicated to the public. The western half of said road had been dedicated, so the government could only buy the remaining one-half belonging to the said Charlotte L. Drain; and as no authority is given in the act to purchase any land outside of the military road proper, the government could not have title to the strip of land of about twenty feet from the road in the Drain property.

Mr. Clements says that if the government's contention should prevail, and this twenty feet taken off of the 52 lots of the Drain subdivision, it would practically render these lots valueless, and really damage the property known as "Radnor Heights" from $20,000 to $25,000; and the only recourse would be to apply to Congress for relief and compensation.

Family Secrets.

A father complains that his little six-year-old girl is too talkative. He says: The worst of it is when we have visitors she is continually making mistakes of the worst sort, mistakes that tend to rattle the dry bones of the family skeleton in the cupboard. Recently she allowed her tongue to run away with her, as usual, the result of which was that she very much embarrassed both her father and mother, although the guests seemed delighted.

I had a very serious talk with her and impressed upon her, or tried to, that she must not tell any family secret. The next time we had company she was permitted to come to the table only by promising that she wouldn't utter a word.

She behaved beautifully and had nothing to say until the dessert was about to be taken away. Then her lips began to quiver, and finally she burst into tears.

"Why, what's the matter, darling?" her mother asked.

"I—I want some more ice cream, if that isn't a family secret," she wailed between sobs.—London Telegraph.

An Unexpected Burns Lecture.

John Augustus O'Shea used to be in considerable request as a lecturer on his military experiences. Once, at Dumfries, he came upon the platform wearing in his buttonhole a daisy, which he quietly removed and held up.

"Ladies and gentlemen," he began, "I hold in my hand a 'wee modest flower' I plucked this evening from the grave of Robert Burns." The audience was interested and became enthralled as the lecturer went on to speak of the national poet. Then, suddenly recollecting that Burns had nothing to do with his subject, he stopped abruptly. "And now," said Mr. O'Shea, "I will proceed to relate my experiences in the war."

But by this time he had thoroughly engaged the sympathies of his listeners, who would not hear of another subject. "Never min' the war, sir," they vociferated; "gie us Robbie Burns!" And he did. This extempore oration afterward became one of the most popular of Mr. O'Shea's lectures. —London Chronicle.

Lord Penzance's Acquaintance.

When the late Lord Penzance was plain Mr. Wilde, he once took an early morning stroll round Covent Garden market. There he entered into conversation with an old man of genial aspect who had just made a purchase of a geranium. Mr. Wilde soon found that the stranger was an enthusiastic amateur gardener, and the pair had an interesting chat on horticultural topics as they walked toward Oxford street. Suddenly the fare in a passing hansom cab signaled to the driver to pull up, and within the vehicle Wilde saw his friend, Sergeant Ballantine. Bidding the old man adieu, Wilde entered the cab.

In surprised accents Ballantine exclaimed, "How on earth did you come to know that man?"

"Picked him up just now in Covent Garden market," said his companion.

"Well, Wilde," the sergeant remarked, "your new acquaintance is Calcraft, the hangman!"—London Academy.

Annoying the Passengers.

"There used to be in one of the southern states," said a military man, "a railroad that was notorious for its slowness. This line was so slow that the people took to lampooning it in the press. Thus one Memorial day a planter wrote to the Rapier, the leading paper of his district:

"The Editor of the Rapier:

"Dear Sir—Is there no way to put a stop to begging along the line of the railroad? For instance, yesterday an aged veteran with a wooden leg kept pace with the afternoon express all the way from Paint Rock to Nola Chucky and annoyed the passengers exceedingly, going from one open window to another with his importunate solicitations. "VOX POPULI."

—Washington Star.

Half of the Pleasure.

The youngest girl of a Baltimore family was recently much distressed at dessert to discover that there was ice cream for dinner.

"Oh, papa," exclaimed the youngster reproachfully, "why didn't they tell me this morning that we were going to have ice cream?"

"What difference would that have made?"

"Lots!" sighed the child. "I could have expected it all day."—Lippincott's Magazine.

Wanted a Pusher.

"What did the new neighbors come to borrow now?"

"They wanted the lawn mower."

"Is that all?"

"That was all they spoke about, but I think from the way they stood around they would like to have borrowed my husband to run it."—Nashville American.

Apothecary's Weight.

"I'm sure," whispered the gossip, "that Mr. Pillsbury, the druggist, takes a dram occasionally."
